MAUI CIRCUIT COURT WILL COVENE TOMORROW

TRIAL CALENDAR AND JURY LIST
FOR JUDGE KALUA'S
DECEMBER TERM.

A Breach of Promise Suit On The Program—Deputy Attorney General
Leaves for Lahaina—Honolulu
Interpreters Go—Minor Cases.

Deputy Attorney General J. W. Cather yesterday was busy engaged preparing to go to Maui to attend the sessions of Circuit Judge John W. Kalua's court which begin tomorrow.

The calendar of this the second circuit of the territory shows twelve criminal cases, twenty-six civil, one jury waived, four divorce, and four in vacation. The criminal cases are nothing more serious than gambling, assault and battery, opium in possession, liquor selling, larceny, keeping disorderly house and assault with a deadly weapon.

Notable among the civil causes is the breach of promise suit of Julia Thomas vs. Joe Emmisley, a number of ejectment suits, several to quiet title, one trespass, one replevin and two for damages. The divorce suits are of Ah Kim vs. Mary F. Ah Kim, Kahale Leimakanani vs. Kaliko Leimakanani, Manuel C. Ross vs. Mary Ross and Apikalia vs. B. K. Kanoa.

The Chinese and Hawaiian interpreters of the Honolulu circuit court, Li Cheong and Charles L. Hopkins have been permitted to attend the Maui court at Lahaina.

Following is the jury list for Judge Kalua's court:

Grand jurors: J. T. Aluli, W. P. Hal, B. D. Baldwin, T. H. Church, Pat Cockett, Henry Dickenson, W. L. De Voto, Aikoa Dowsett, Antoine Fernandez, Jr., R. P. Rose, Hugh Howell, F. W. ## AMERICAN SUGAR REFINERY.

Brief History of the Absorption of the Business by the Trust.

In an article on the present status of the American beet sugar industry and its chances for the future, the Grocery World says:

Appropos of the existing conditions, in raw sugar, the past few years' record of the sugar-refining industry in America is particularly interesting. The history of American sugar refining in the last twelve or fifteen years is the history of conflict and change. The American Sugar Refining Company, commonly known as the sugar trust, was organized about twelve years ago, taking under its wing a majority of the leading refineries of the country. At the time sugar refining was by no means the important industry which it is today and small sugar refineries were scattered all over the entire United States. The American Sugar Refining Company, with one bold stroke, gathered in the leaders as well as several small plants, and the most of the latter closed. For example, in Philadelphia, where the sugar trust was formed, besides some smaller houses, there were the Knight, Delaware, Philadelphia and Franklin refineries, all of which the trust bought and all of which eventually closed.

A few years later Claus Spreckels in revenge for the trust's invasion of his California territory, built another refinery in Philadelphia, which the trust, after some conflict, also bought. The Spreckels refinery is the only trust refinery which is remaining in Philadelphia today, the only other sugar plant being the McCahan refinery, which, although independent, is friendly with the American concern.

Since its organization the trust has, from time to time, purchased other refineries, closing the most of them as fast as it acquired them; and at no time since its very birth has its hold on the American sugar refining industry been anything less than absolute. In 1899, of the 2,040,675 tons of refined sugar which actually went into consumption in the United States, the American Sugar Refining Company itself produced 1,385,608 tons, or 67.9 per cent, and it controlled much more than that.

During the past ten years a few large independent refineries have been erected and have been operated ostensibly independent of the trust. These are the Mollenhauer refinery at Brooklyn, N. Y.; the National Refinery at Yonkers, N. Y.; the McCahan Refinery at Philadelphia; the Arbuckle Refinery at Brooklyn. These are all

A Cure for Chronic Darrhoea.

"About five years ago I was troubled with catarrh of the lower bowel," says C. T. Chisholm, 484 Dearborn Ave., Chicago, and although I consulted several eminent physicians who prescribed for me, I found their remedies failed to in any way relieve me, and the trouble almost became chronic. After suffering several months, I one day concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I beg to assure you that I was most agreeably surprised to find after taking two doses of the remedy that I was completely relieved of the disease that had cost me so much trouble and annoyance. I am thankful to say that I have not suffered from it since." For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., general agents for Territory of Hawaii.
